2005 Trillium Dedication

If you ever have trouble finding Danny around lunchtime, he can usually be located at one of his favorite eating spots, The Lake Lincoln Store.

Danny Dykes

This year's Trillium has been dedicated to a man who has served Copiah-Lincoln Community College well for the past 31 years. He has been a part of much of the technological change in everything from our phone system to online registration. Danny Dykes began working at Co-Lin in 1973. He has earned manty honors, including Outstanding Staff Member 2001. He graduated with honors from Co-Lin in 1966 and went on to receive a B.S. and M.S from USM. He helped initiate and organize the Mississippi Junior College Computer Center Directors' Association. In addition, he has been selected for inclusion in Personalities of the South, Outstanding Young Men of America, and Who's Who in US Executives.

Today's Dream... Tomorrow's Reality

As this school year began, the yearbook staffs on Wesson and Natchez campuses had to ask themselves what they thought would really epitomize the upcoming school year, what they thought needed to be captured to help everyone remember the year. Change was in the air, so that became the theme. This year started with movement--teachers moving to their new offices and classrooms in the Dow-Young Technology Building, students moving from building to building trying to find classes, and maintenance working harder than ever to get all of the change completed. There were diplomas to hang, new furniture to order, and old furniture to dispense with. New technology entered even the oldest of classrooms. Sandifer Communication was gutted and renovated from the inside right out to the new entrance and deck. And the year ended with changes still in the works, like the brand new Simpson County Facility being constructed in Magee. Change is good.

Seasons of

c h a n g e

The newest addition to the Copiah-Lincoln Community College Wesson campus is the Dow-Young Instructional Technology Building. With its state-of-the-art technology in the classrooms and labs, this building is top of the line. Each classroom is equipped with a dropdown screen and a podium that holds a computer to run a ceiling-mounted projector.

The computer labs require students to use a memory stick for their computer classes this year. The labs were used for reading and English classes and for drop in students who needed to work on their on-line classes and do research for their ground classes.

The building was named for former board members the late John Dow and L. G Young. Labs were named in honor of former instructors Maurice Cammack and Roy Daughdrill.

Always calm and polite, Falana McDaniel works hard to get online students and instructors the help they need. When Distance Learning Coordinator Laura Lofton went on maternity leave in December, Falana did the job of two people without complaining.

new kids on the block

The past few years have shown great changes in the face of the campus. Not only has the campus changed significantly as new buildings are being built and others are remodeled, there are many new faces. Some are replacements for retirees. Others were filled brand position, like Jill Logan, who many students know as the "attendance lady." Jill Logan and Dr. Jane Hulon teamed up to replaced Dr. Kay Owen who is now a dean at Millsaps College in Jackson. Several instructors are wearing more than one hat, like Shelton Gandy and Dr. Brett Shufelt, who are teaching courses in addition to their roles with the football team. Although there are new faces all over campus, the science department saw the biggest turnover this year with three new instructors: Dr. Angela Washington, Rob Channel, and Leslie Hood.

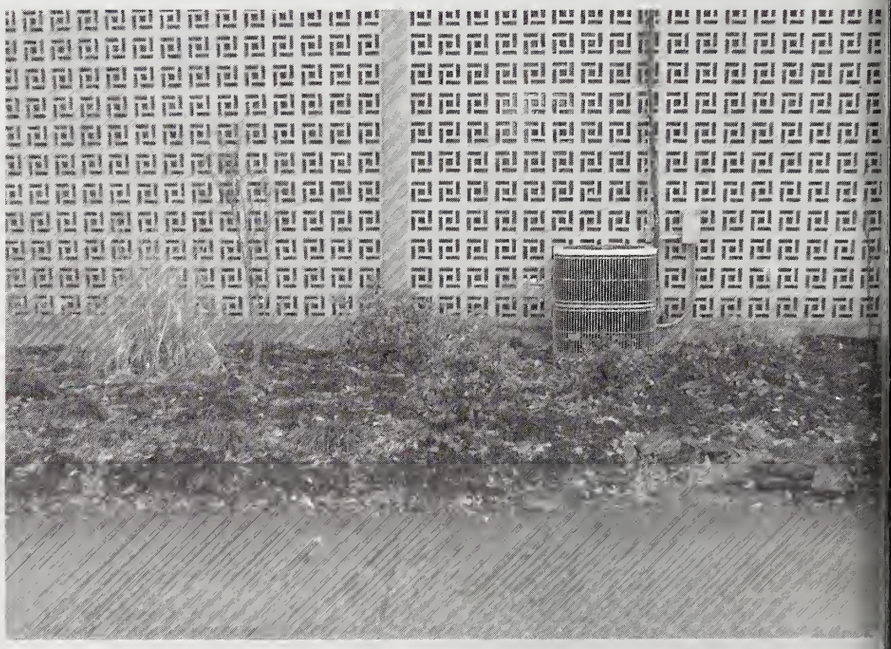
Extreme Makeover: Wesson Campus

Don't blink, or you will miss something. If you have not taken a ride around campus lately, you are bound to have missed some pretty significant changes. There is a new technology building where the football dorm used to be. The field house no longer looks like a witches' convention is taking place thanks to a new roof. While the Mutton Building looks the same on the outside, the inside looks very different. Sandifer has also had a major overhaul. Security even cut a new door on the side facing the railroad tracks, so they can get in and out quickly. Most of us are waiting on the barbeque that the officers have been promising on the new deck maintenance built. New flowerbeds and other aesthetically-pleasing changes have really given the Wesson campus a much-needed face-lift.



Even though this picture was taken in February, it is easy to see how much this flowerbed improves the look of the building.

Day students may not recognize the Dow-Young Building at night, but the building's lighting really brightens up the Wesson campus at night.

Under Construction: Simpson County

The Simpson County Centrer is under construction this year and will be completed by August of 2005.

As security makes its move to Sandifer Hall, a new door is cut on the back of the building and a deck is constructed.

Taken midway through the project, Pitts Field House looks much better with one continuous roof instead of the multiple points that can still be seen at this point in construction.

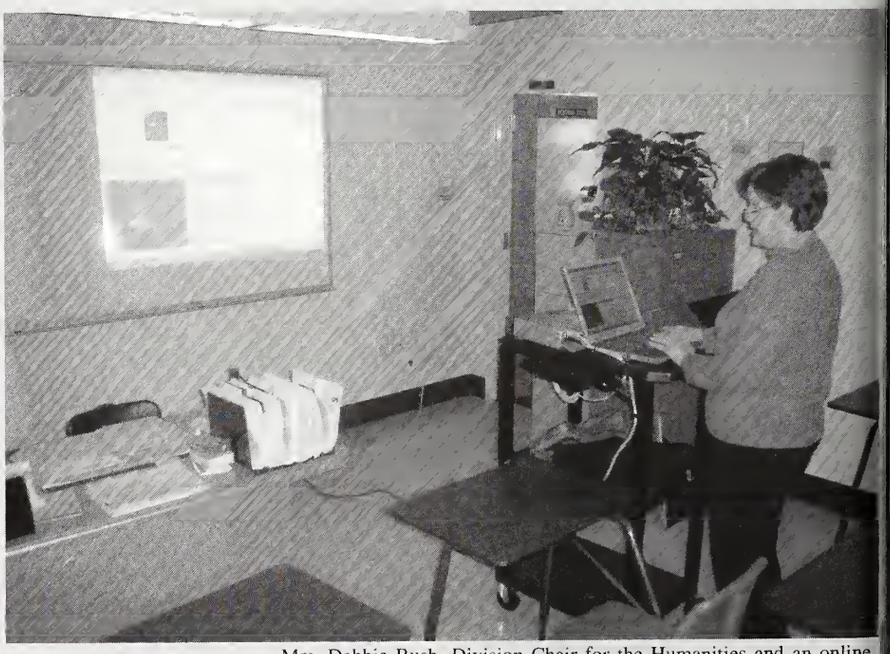
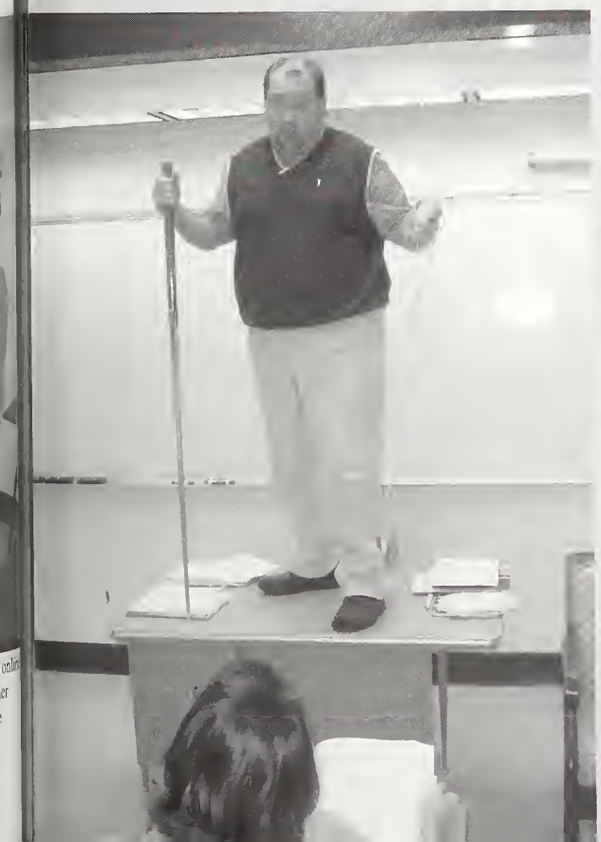
Not only have the buildings on campus undergone a significant change, what goes on in the classroom is also changing. Gone are the days of hand writing students' names in gradebooks and chalk-filled classrooms. Many instructors are now using more advanced techniques to convey their knowledge to students. As technology advances, the classroom becomes more user friendly. What used to be a slow and tedious task (like pulling up images on the internet) has become a quick and simple achievement thanks to the T1 connection on campus. Even this yearbook is almost entirely digital. Using Pagemaker and Walsworth enhancements as well as a digital camera, pages are quickly done with a click here and a click there.



Mrs. Debbie Bush, Division Chair for the Humanities and an online instructor, demonstrates the technology she is now using in her English classes. On the board, she is showing images of Anne Bradstreet that she uses in her American Literature courses.

Falana McDaniel and Distance Learning Director, Laura Lofton, work hard to keep the online classes going.

Mr. Eddie Britt and the rest of the Mathematics Division write all their notes on tablet PCs during class, which can later be emailed to students who miss class.



Students are busy working in one of the Dow-Young Technology Building's many state-of-the-art computer labs.

Of course, not all of what an instructor does in the classroom will transfer to an online class. Mr. Chris Warren, one of Co-Lin's more entertaining instructors, teaches history in the classroom and online.

Mr. and Miss Copiah-Lincoln

Chris Collins & Brandi Irvin

2004-2005

can honestly say the past two years at Co-Lin have been the best years of my life. I have made many friends and experienced tremendous personal growth. I now feel certain that I will excel at a university. As I leave Co-Lin, I will maintain the high standards of a great representative of our school. Thanks to everyone who made this possible."

Chris Collins

"I'm extremely excited being elected by my peers as Miss Co-Lin. It is truly an honor and privelege to represent Co-Lin in this manner. The past two years have been completely enjoyable, and I have so many memories that I will cherish forever. The Co-Lin experience is definitely worthwhile. I want to give a special thank you to everyone. God Bless!!"

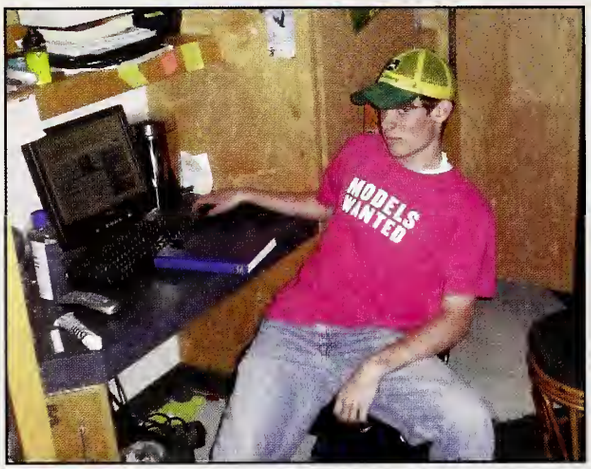
What's H-O-T-T???

One of the most popular colors this year for guys and girls is pink....pink.....and more PINK!!!!



Blake Byrd a.k.a "Byrdman" serfs the web on "his computer" while wearing his pink "Models Wanted" shirt.

Mrs. Lea Ann Knight is looking pretty HOTT in her pink shirt!!

Inga Bass teaches Melinda Ainsworth and Josh Vance that blending their shirts will make the colorful shade of pink that Inga wears.

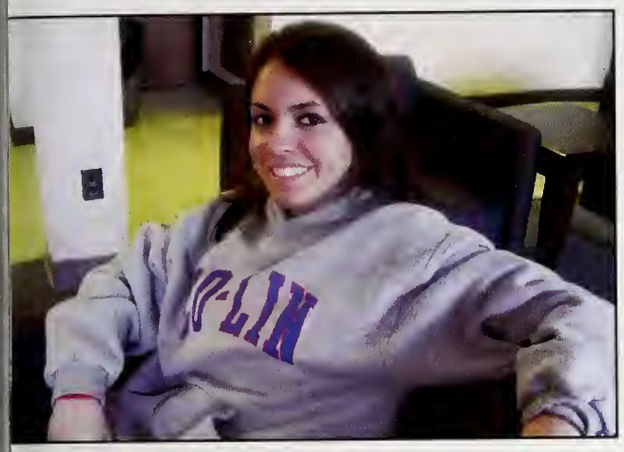
These students add a little flavor to their camo wardrobe.

Todd Springs shows us that sunglasses are part of his stiye.

Show Me Your Style!!



Co-Lin sweat shirt is a must for every student t Co-Lin. Dana King smiles as she proudly wears her school name.

Natasha Nelson said she knows she has style!!

Todd Sullivan says his brown leather jacket makes him steaming H-O-T-T.

Hairstyles always add the final touch to any look.

John Richard Cole is in the house!!!!

Garrett Smith, Landon Case, and Corey Hart says if its cold outside, your style better include a jacket.

What artists do you listen to?

Mary J. Blige–

Head of the Class

Some were leaders; some were learners. Some were both. The campus of Copiah-Lincoln is a mix of traditional and non-traditional, preppy and alternative, scholar and partier, and all are assets to the learning experienc as they give us a diverse learning environment.

Working

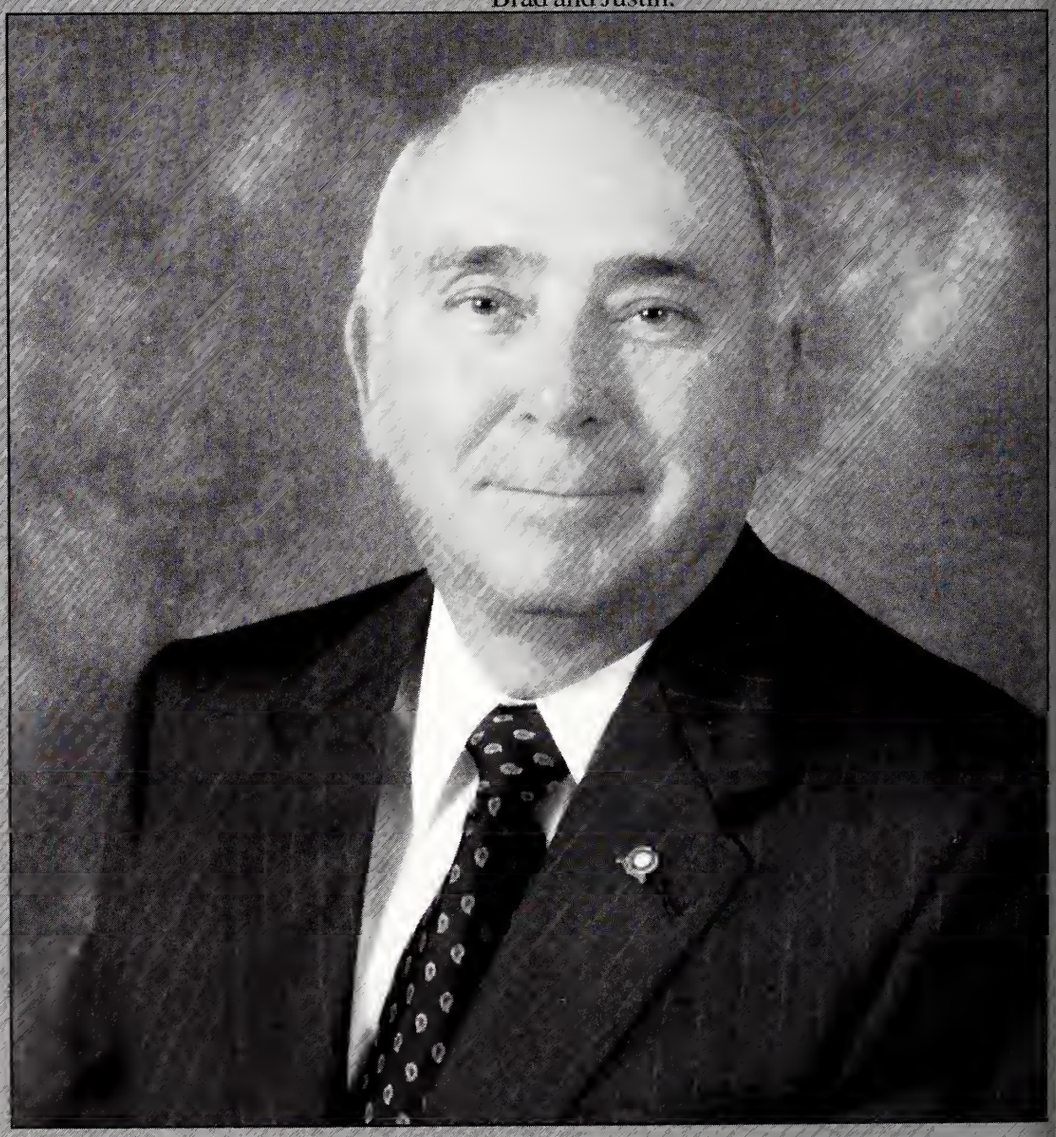
Dr. Howell Garner

Dr. Howell Garner has been at Co-Lin for over 30 years, which means he has seen much change. He was here when the first "state-of-the-art" Commodore 64 computer lab was opened. If anyone knows about looking toward the future, it would have to be Dr. Garner. In his career in education, he has been a high school social studies teacher, a business law/political science instructor, and adjunct instructor at USM and MSU as well as Dean of the College here at Co-Lin.

He earned his bachelor's degree from Mississippi State University, went to the University of Mississippi's Law School, and received a master's and doctorate from the University of Southern Mississippi.

As if the many hours he works at Co-Lin are not enough, Dr. Garner is also an active member of the Lion's Club on the local, district, state, and international levels, serving in various positions. He is also very involved in the Wesson Chamber of Commerce and the Copiah County Economic Development District.

He and his wife, Candy, have two sons, Brad and Justin.



Together

Dr. Ronnie Nettles

Dr. Ronnie Nettles started his first year as Executive Vice President at Co-Lin, but he is no stranger at Co-Lin. He served as Dean of the Natchez Campus from 1997 until beginning as VP last summer, and before that, Dr. Nettles was the Director of Community and Economic Development for Co-Lin.

Prior to coming to Co-Lin, Dr. Nettles was the Director of Career Planning and Placement at the University of Southern Mississippi.

He earned a bachelor's degree in Political Science and a master's degree in Counseling and Personnel Services from the University of Southern Mississippi. His doctorate was earned at the University of Mississippi in Educational Leadership.

Dr. Nettles is a member of the Board of Directors for the Natchez Rotary Club and Adams County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

He and his wife, Rosie, have one daughter, Jordan, and one son, Brandon.

Often, those who make the biggest difference are behind the scenes

Oh, Lordy, No!

Although students and their instructors had schedules they maintained from day to day, some days were more memorable than others. Who can forget the "funeral" for business manager Michael Tanner when he turned the big five-oh or the Grim Reaper (in the form of Stacy Fells) coming to visit history instructor Chris Warren when "Lordy, Lordy" he turned forty. Other pranks were played, of course, but fortunately (or unfortnuately, in some cases), these were "caught on tape."

Above: Mrs. Natalie Davis catches it all on tape. As the public relations person at Co-Lin, Mrs. Davis sees more than her share of funny moments through the lens of a camera.

Top Center: Mr. David Campbell performs the eulogy as Mr. Michael Tanner turns 50.

Above: Even Dr. Garner gets in on the act as friends, family, and probably even some hungry enemies walk in Mr. Tanner's "processional" across campus, which ended with some tasty cake. All's well that ends well, is it not?

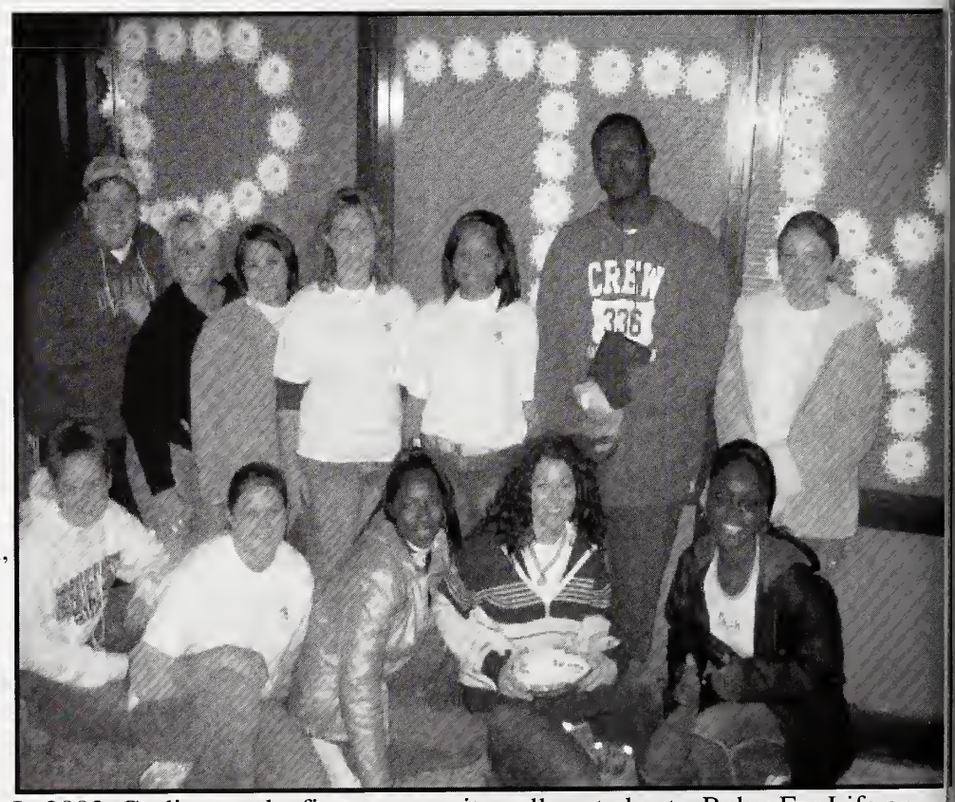
SERVICE



In 2003, Co-lin was the first community college to host a Relay For Life on campus. This year, Eta Omega raised over $4600 to donate to the American Cancer Society.

OF PHI THETA KAPPA

FELLOWSHIP

"Exploring the Hallmarks Summer Forum" was held on campus in July. Over nine chapters across our region were represented.

Inga Bass serves as one of the mentors in the "Find A Friend Program."

TOPIC FOR PHI THETA KAPPA IS:

REFLECTING WHO WE ARE

These students along with advisors Lea Ann Knight, Neisha Leggett, and Randy Castilaw attended the Regional PTK Convention at Southwest Community College in Summit, MS. In addition to being named Most Outstanding Chapter, Eta Omega received the Fellowship Hallmark and the Most Oustanding Newsletter Award. Eta Omega President Karen W. Freeman was named to the Order of the Golden Key for Distinguised Chapter Officers and was selected Most Distinguished Chapter Officer of the Mississippi/Louisiana Region.

Mrs. Chisholm, Sociology and Psychology instructor, speaks at a PTK meeting and shares with the students that popular culture is everywhere and constantly affects everyone.

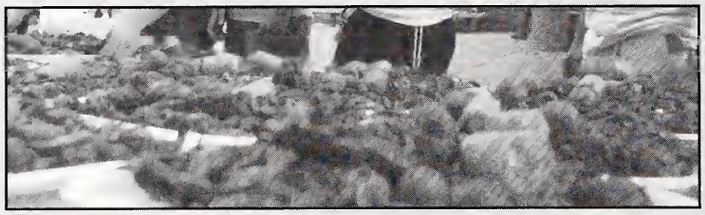
Spring Fling
a brief reality check



Every year, for one week, life as everyone knows it on the Wesson campus of Copiah-Lincoln Community College changes drastically. Loud music fills the air from a live band instead of a loud, incoherent thump from the speakers of someone's car. Also in the air is the smell of roasting pig and crawfish. Crowds gather as students watch in horror as other students play a game of Fear Factor, which includes eating extremely disgusting things--like a block of cream cheese and live worms. Visions of summer fun start appearing as students test out the water at Lake Lincoln and pull out their bikinis to start working on tans. As students "get their jig on" on the dance floor, a good time is had by all, and it is a nice break before reality sets in that exams are right around the corner.

Jetskiing backwards is a danger worth taking if an injury might bring prestige or at least pity from instructors during exams.

Fear Factor participants at Co-Lin have an edge over those appearing in the television series--hunger!

Instructors often wonder why they cannot get students to work as hard on classroom tasks as they do on volleyball games.

It is always good to see Allen Kent, the coordinator of Spring Fling, hard at work. This must be one of the "meetings" he is always attending.

They Blinded Us with Science

The division on campus credited with making more students cry and change their major would have to be the science division. They carry the heavy burden of trying to teach students who will one day be our doctors, nurses, lab technicians, radiographers, and so forth. No one envies them the task of making it clear to students whether or not they will be capable of making it in the medical field, but hey, somebody has to do it. After all, not everyone can get into medical school and nursing school.

Science is not only difficult tests and tiny images in microscopes that, let's face it, many of us will never see through the forest of eyelashes. It can also be a lot of fun. Centripedal force is what makes most of the rides at the State fair so exciting. Love it, hate it--either way, everyone has to have his or her dose (6 hours to be exact).

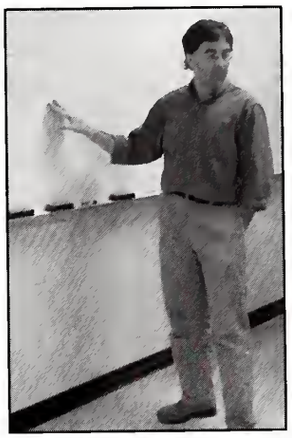
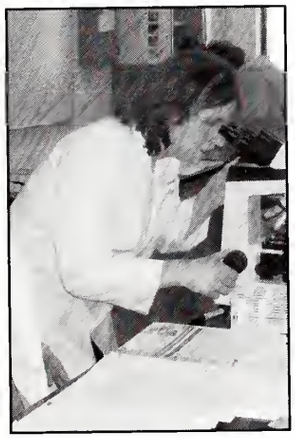
the faculty

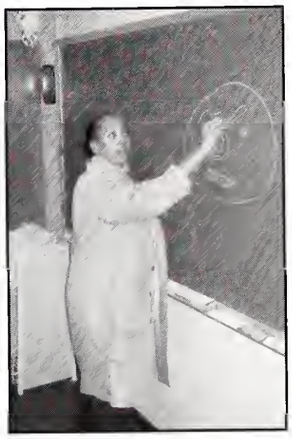
Dr. Kevin McKone explains once again the concept of gravity. "Gravity is always negative," he preaches.





"No," says Leslie Hood to a microbiology student, "the object is not supposed to look like a series of straight lines. Those would be your eyelashes."

Dr. Angela Washington explains some of the finer points of the cell to students in her Zoology class.



Mrs. Shelley Huskey explains to yet another student that there are no chemicals to make a love potion number nine.

Right: Some of the trips Goran and Dino have been able to attend are thanks to PBL conventions to places like New Orleans, Louisiana.

Below: Coach McIntyre makes sure the Croatians get the full experience that the United States of America has to offer, including the customary sticking your head through a display.

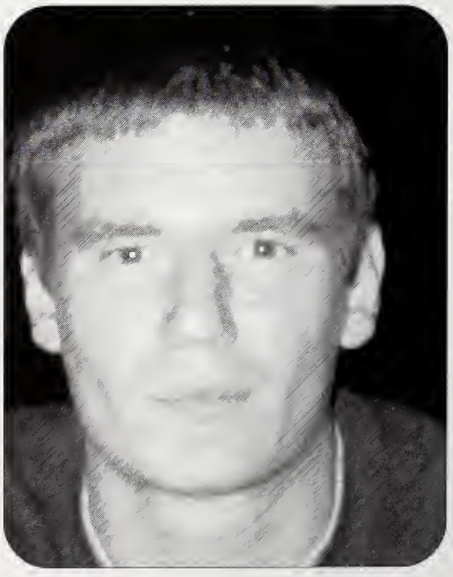
His favorite classes are mathematics classes.



Q & A

With Goran Samodajev and Dino Lovrin

Q: How has your experience been at Co-Lin, and how do you like Co-Lin?
GS: When I was coming here, I was not sure what the college would be like. It is so much different from back home.
DL: When I came here everything was new for me.Then I met Coach Mac and made some friends, and they showed me how things work here.

Q: What do you enjoy most?
GS: I like going on trips and hanging out with friend.
DL: Hanging out with friends, playing tennis, and the trips.

" People here [at Co-Lin] are more caring and helpful," say Goran Samodjev and Dino Lovrin

Q: What are your hobbies?
GS: Watching movies, swimming, scuba diving, paragliding, playing cards, and pool.
DL: Computer games, cards, and going camping.

Q: What is your major?
GS: Business Administration.
DL: Architechture.

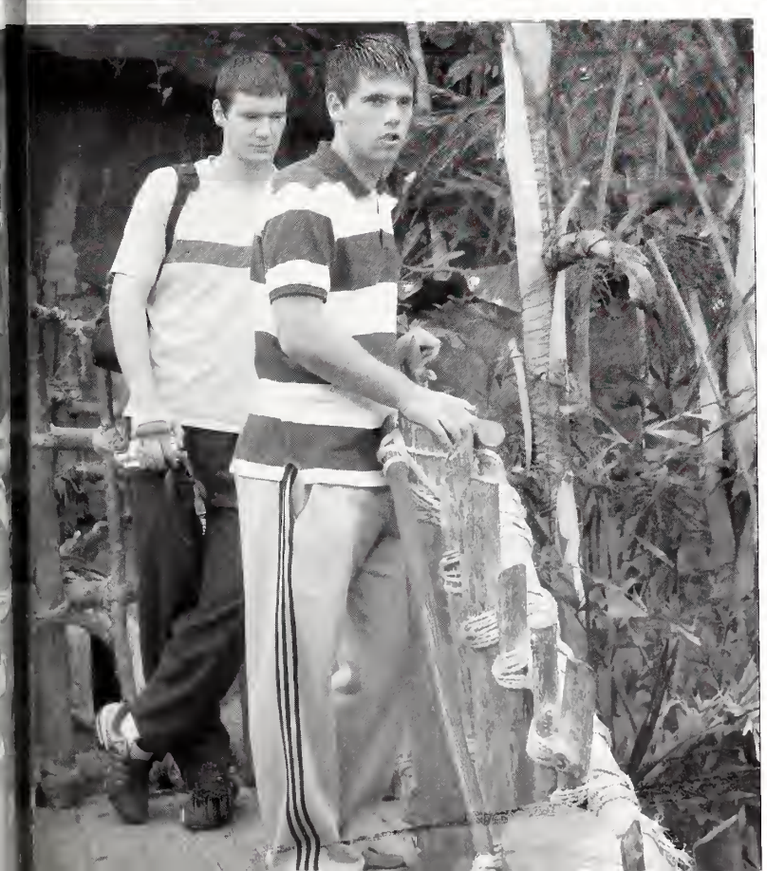
Q: Where is your hometown?
GS and DL: Zadar, Croatia.

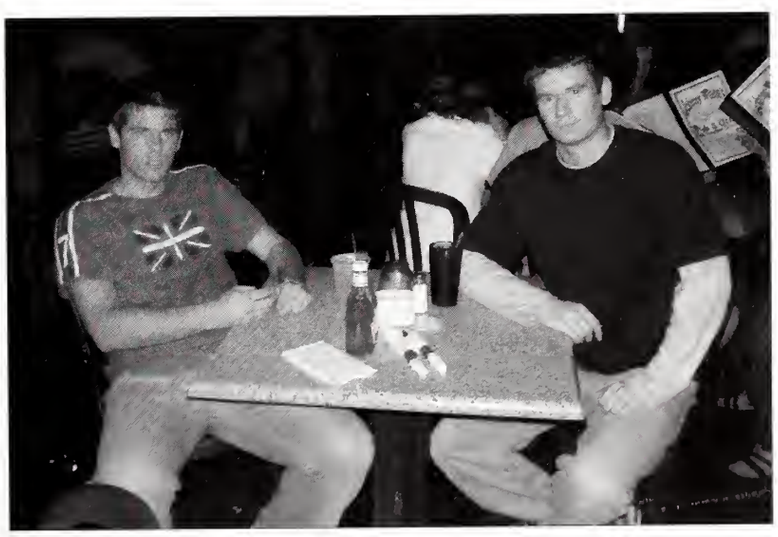
Q: Where did you go to high school?
GS: I went to Chemistry School. Most of the classes I took were Chemistry classes.
DL: Franjo Petric.

Q: What activities did you do in high school?
GS: I played soccer, hand ball, tennis. I was in the drama section and wrote articles for the school magazine.
DL: I played soccer.

Q: What honors and awards did you receive?
GS: I played in regional tournaments in soccer and hand ball as the goalie, was selected into the sports hall of fame, and won the Zaton Open in 2004 and previously placed in the Zaton Open and Zadar Open, placing first in 2002 and 2003. In all of Croatia, I was ranked 26th in 2002 and 10th in 2003. I was ranked 2nd locally (similar to what we would consider state ranking).
DL: In 1999, I was a semi-finalist in the Zadar Open. In 2003, I played in the double final rounds with Goran. In 2002, I won the Zaton Open and was a finalist in 2003 and 2004. I was ranked 35th in Croatia in 2003 and 16th in 2004.

Q: What are some of the major differences between Croatian schools and Co-Lin?
GS and DL: It is like two separate worlds. We used to live ten minutes from the sea. People here are more caring and helpful. The schools here pay more attention to the students and athletes.





Left: Goran and Dino, who did know each other before coming to Co-Lin, visit the zoo and other landmarks in New Orleans.

Above: If Goran and Dino look exhausted, it might be because they have to walk everywhere they go. They can often be seen walking to Wesson at night to get a snack from the store. Does anyone have a spare car?

WOMEN'S SOCCER

This is the first year for Women's Soccer coach Andy Diaz-Moreno. However, he has assisted the previous coach, Carolyn DiPaolo for the past two years.

Diaz-Moreno's desire: "I want soccer to become as popular here as it is in teh rest of the world."

MEN'S SOCCER

Although the Men's Soccer team only had two returning players this year, they were optimistic that this year would be better than ever. Each year hte soccer team sees great improvements, and this year was no exception. The team was coached by Wayne Wallace, who has fifteen years of coaching experience. It was Wallace's first year at Co-Lin.

marching to their own beat

Under the leadership of band director Shaw Furlow and with the assistance of Chris Warren, Stanley Stewart, and Shelley Huskey, the band carved its niche in the life of the college. Whether it was pumping up the fans at football games, marching in parades, or simply adding atmosphere to the relatively quiet campus as they rehearsed in the afternoons, the band was an obvious part of every aspect of campus life. The Blue Wave Show Band used the music of Chuck Magione as their inspiration this year, playing and dancing to such songs as "Children of Sanchez" and "El Gato Triste." No matter what happened during the football game, there was at least one highlight--the band.

Up and Running:

Co-Lin Football Takes to the Field

A new year brings with it a new set of coaches and many new players, which, of course, bring new ideas, new plays, new uniforms, and even a new emblem.

The helmets of the Co-Lin Wolves bear a new and improved wolf, sleek and fierce like our players. Although the team did not do as well as they hoped, it was a phenomenal effort on the part of all involved, and fans have a lot to look forward to next season.

A rebuilding year

the wolves

New coaches, new uniforms, new logos, and new attitudes kickstart a year of rebuilding.

Playing for a new coach can be tough, but the Wolves handled it well. New head coach Glenn Davis returned to Co-Lin this year from Mississippi State University. He was last at Co-Lin for the 1995-96 season as the offensive coordinator. Rounding off his coaching staff are: Brett Shufelt, Shelton Gandy, Calvin Green, Chris Tolbert, and Rob Channell.

Although the Wolves began the year with a bang, they had a tough time pulling off a winning season against such adversaries as nationally ranked Hinds and Northwest.

The Wolves looked good both on and off the field. They got a new logo, new uniforms, a newly renovated field house, and even new "casual wear" for the day of the game. Nicknamed the "blueberries," the Wolves wore all blue wind suits to class, inspiring school spirit and setting them apart from the rest of the crowd.

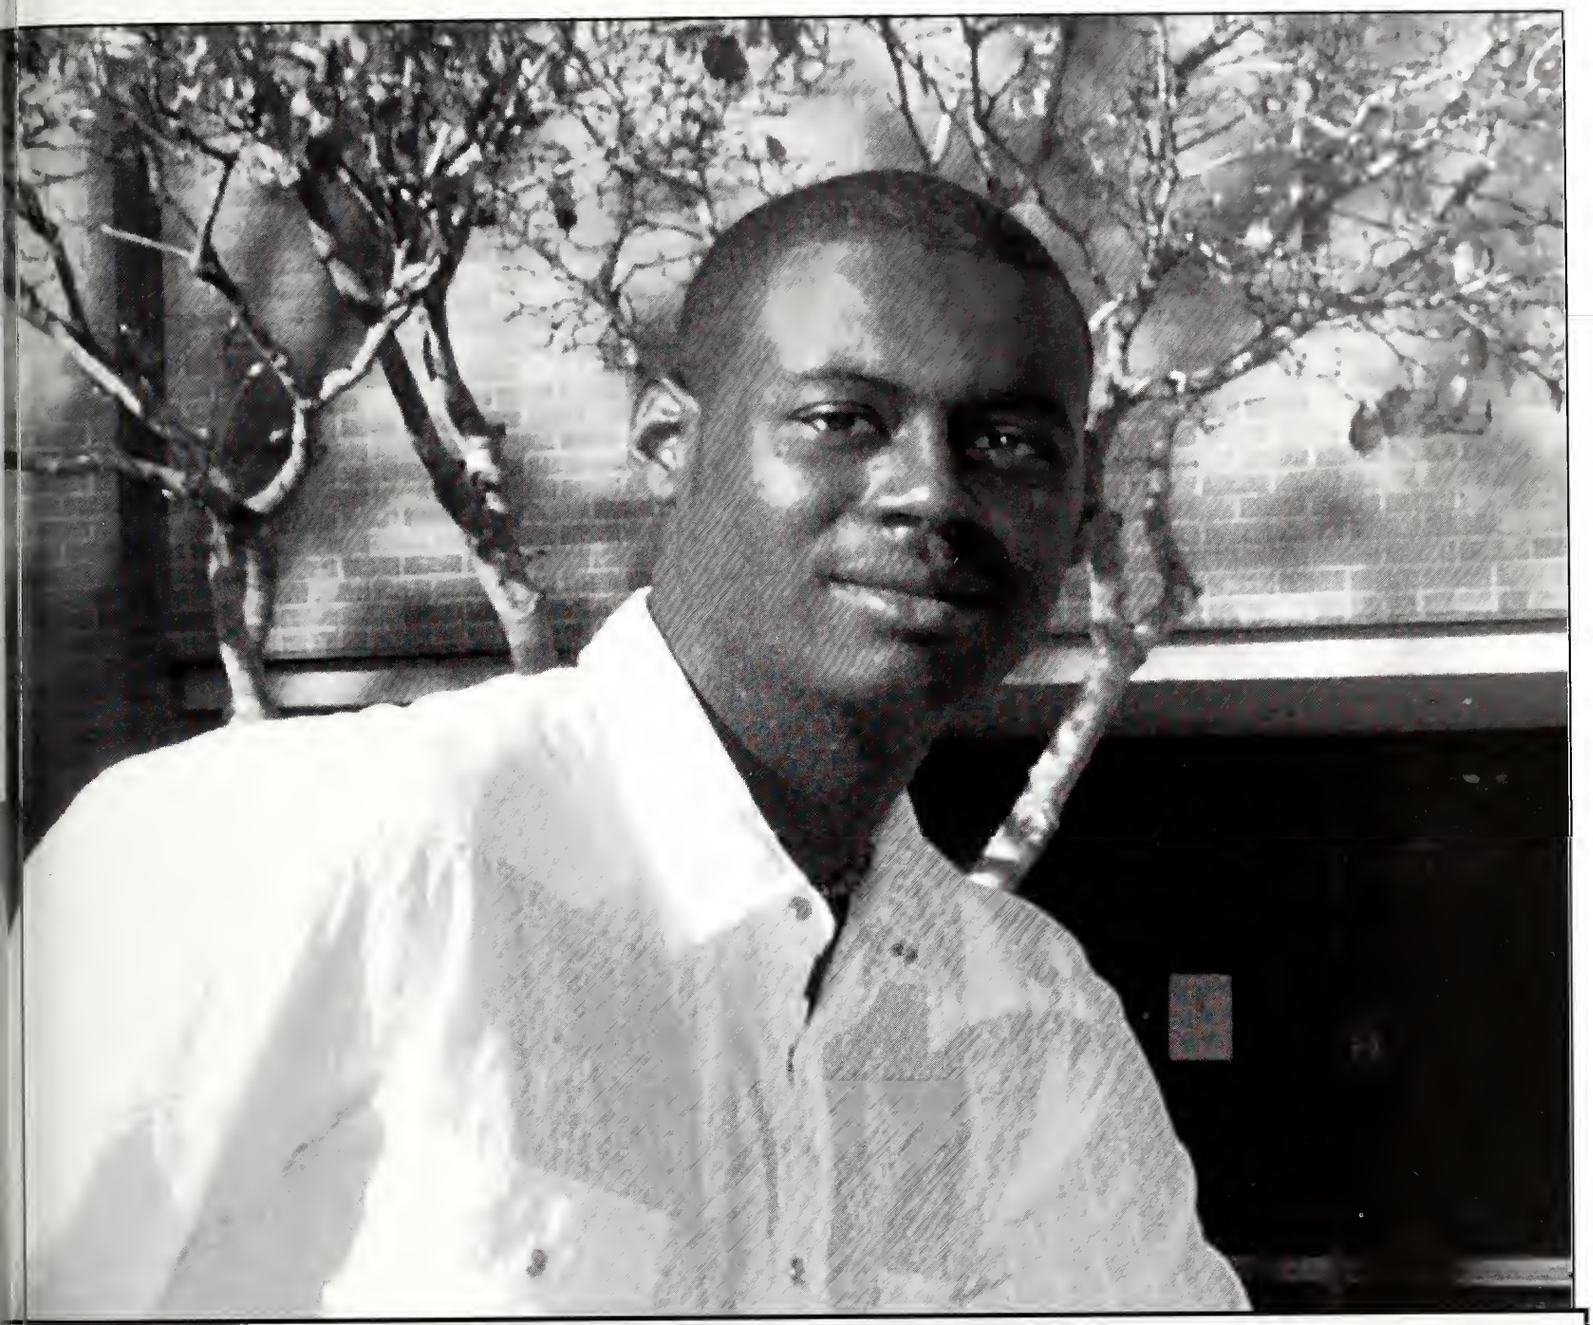
In the Spotlight:

Dr. Jane Hulon, Dean of Academic Instruction

As the new Dean of Academics, Dr. Hulon is focusing on updating some policies.

Can Anyone Spare Some Change?

This year has been a year of change for Dean of Academic Instruction, Dr. Jane Hulon. She has changed jobs, moved to a new town, and since she has been at Co-Lin, moved her office from the Administration Building to the Dow-Young Instructional Technology Building. Dr. Hulon must like change, though, she is implementing much of it herself. Beginning next fall, she will tighten the reigns on absenteeism by enforcing a new attendance policy. Dr. Hulon has also buckled down on protecting the privacy of students. Instructor can no longer post grades in their classrooms in any form or fashion. Grades can be viewed on Blackboard, though, for students who lose track of their scores. Dr. Hulon is also changing the advisement system. All students are now required to see their advisors to get their holds released. Advisors will make sure students are on the right track toward graduation by going over the graduation requirements with students and advising student on which classes to take. Hopefully, this will cut down on the number of students who realize too late that they are one course short of graduating. Clearly, Dr. Hulon's first year as Dean at Co-Lin has been a busy one.



hope you enjoyed what you have seen in this yearbook so far. The Trillium Staff has worked diligently to reate this book that portrays the school year at Copiah-Lincoln. As you turned through the pages, I hope you egan to recall the memories that are captured in this book--the memories of time you spent laughing with riends or that day when you scored the winning point for your team. Years from now, you can look back on the What's HOTT??? Show Me Your Style" pages and see some of the trends of 2004-2005. I want to give an enormous thank you to my staff members. I appreciate you all working so hard and meeting your deadlines. I also want to thank Joel Bonner for shooting some sports candids. Last but not least, I want to give a speacial hank you to my advisors, Mrs. Natalie Davis and Mrs. Ashley Bonds. It has been a pleasure working under the wo of you. Thanks so much for your kind words of encouragement when things began to get hectic, thank you or your extreme patience and motivation, and thank you for being open to new ideas. The book could not have een the same without you. To my freshman staff members, my "dream" for you is to have an even better ime next year than we had this year and to create an even better book.

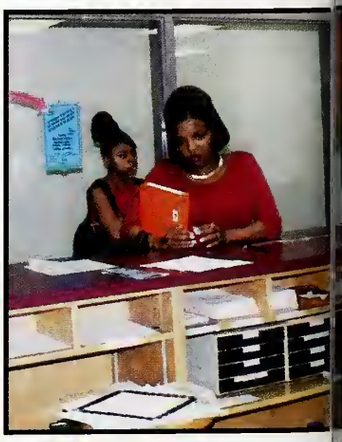
THE NATCHEZ CAMPUS

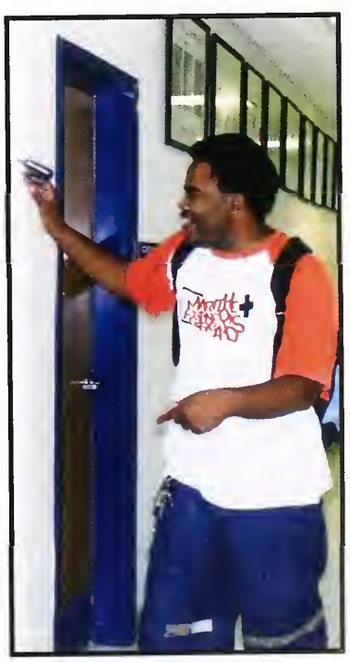


Today's Dreams, Tomorrow's Reality

Students attend Co-Lin/Natchez for a myriad of reasons. Some attend because of the school's proximity; some attend because of the low tuition; some attend because they have heard of Co-Lin's high quality educational and vocational programs; and still some attend on the recommendation of family and friends who have either attended or are still are attending Co-Lin.

Regardless of their reasons for making Co-Lin their choice, all students have dreams of becoming successful in their future endeavors. And, all have realized that the bridge that spans the space between their dreams and their reality is the "bridge of education."

Education teaches us as we grow and discover who we are and what we want out of life that what is most important is not what lies behind or before us but what lies within us. And in our endeavor to be successful, we learn that education is what makes today's dreams, tomorrow's reality.



Gwendolyn S. McCalip
Acting Dean of the Natchez Campus

Gwendolyn S. McCalip graduated from Mississippi State with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education and from Mississippi College with a Master of Education degree in Education Guidance and Counseling. Additional studies included Northeast Louisiana University. She has been a dedicated employee of Co-Lin since 1992, beginning as a part-time psychology instructor and then advancing to Academic Counselor. Currently, she serves as Acting Dean of the Natchez Campus and as the Admissions and Records Director. Prior to her employment at Co-Lin, she worked for the Concordia Parish and Cathedral School Systems.

McCalip is the secretary/treasurer for the Mississippi Association for College Registrars and Admissions Officers. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, the Southern Association for College Registrars and Admissions Officers, the Mississippi Association for Community and Junior Colleges Registrars and Admissions Officers, the Mississippi Counseling Association for Community and Junior Colleges, the Co-Lin Community College Foundation Board of Directors, and Rotary International.

McCalip was instrumental in creating the F. Kenneth McCalip Memorial Scholarship, named in memory of her husband. She also plays a significant role in the Co-Lin/Natchez Golf Classic, which raises money each year for scholarships for Natchez Campus students. Additionally, she serves on the Board of Directors for the Carriage House, is a Natchez Junior Auxiliary Sustaining Member, and a member of the Pilgrimage Garden Club, the Krewe of Phoenix, and the Kappa Delta Alumni Association. Furthermore, she is a member of St. Mary Basilica church, where she serves a lector. And, she is the mother of Conn Kenneth and Chase McNeil.

Honors include the High Performance Award, the Mississippi Counseling Association State Recognition Award, and inductions into the Co-Lin Foundation Hall of Fame and the Rotary Paul Harris Foundation Fellow.

When asked to comment on her new role as Acting Dean, she responded that she assumed the role of this position because of her deep love for Co-Lin and its students, her great respect for President Garner and Executive Vice-President Nettles, and the faith that she has in her co-workers at Co-Lin, who perform their jobs so professionally day in and day out.

Her jobs as Acting Dean and Admissions and Records Director keep McCalip quite busy.

In spite of her hectic schedule, McCalip takes a breather and smiles for the camera.

McCalip congratulates Rebecca Payton on receiving her scholarship award.

Patricia Anne Cater Receives The Natchez Trillium Dedication

Patricia "Pat" Anne Cater graduated from Co-Lin with an Associates of Arts degree in Microcomputer Information Processing. She has been a dedicated employee of Co-Lin since 1989, serving in several positions before becoming administrative assistant to the dean in 1990. Prior to obtaining this position, she was administrative assistance for several departments: the Small Business Center, the faculty department, and admissions and records. Cater also was the bookstore clerk and coordinator for Elderhostel. Additionally, she held several jobs before her employment at Co-Lin. She was secretary for the Jordan Auto Company; secretary for Life Insurance of Georgia; a teletype operator for the Diamond International Corporation; and secretary-treasurer and clerk for the Cliff Temple Baptist Church.

Cater is the recipient of the High Performance Award and the Business Technology Award. She was a member of Phi Theta Kappa and on the National Dean's List. Furthermore, she graduated first in her class and was the speaker for graduation.

Cater is a member of the Natchez Church of God. She is a Sunday School teacher and a member of the choir and Ladies Ministries Organization. She is married to Howard and the mother of Buddy, Rachel, and Rebekah.

With much love and admiration, we dedicate the yearbook to Mrs. Cater.

All at Co-Lin would agree that no one is more deserving of the Trillium Dedication Award than Patricia Ann Cater. Congratulations!
